April 22, 2013-California State University San Bernardino, formerly Day Reporting Center, Cal State Reentry Initiative (CSRI)

California State University San Bernardino has announced the release of a Request for Proposals (RFP) regarding its Day Reporting Center project. This project, which has recently been renamed the Cal State San Bernardino Reentry Initiative (CSRI), will continue its operation in downtown San Bernardino and will open two additional centers: one in Riverside and one in Victorville.

CSRI is a project that helps parolees of state prison reenter society. Through education, substance abuse intervention, and structured case management, CSRI works to help formerly-incarcerated individuals obtain housing, employment, and a new approach to life. The project is operated by Cal State San Bernardino and is funded entirely by the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR). This RFP comes out of an expansion that has been recently approved by CDCR, allowing us to increase service at the current location and open two new centers. In the new three-year contract, we will serve 725 individuals each year throughout the two-county region.

The RFP seeks the following services in each of the three regions:

- Transitional Housing/Sober Living
- Substance Abuse Counseling and Education
- Batterer's Intervention/Domestic Violence
- Life Skills/Community Navigation
- Nutritious Meals (not in San Bernardino – in Riverside and Victorville only)

The total amount to be contracted through this RFP is $3,335,333 over three years, with an annual average of $1,096,000. The contracts will be for one-year periods, but will be renewable contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding from CDCR. The RFP is due on April 22, 2013 at 4:00pm. It must be delivered physically – electronic and facsimile submissions will not be considered. The new contracts will begin as early as May 1 and as late as September 1, depending on regions. CSRI will hold mandatory proposers' conferences, one in each of the three regions (see the RFP for more details):

- Riverside – March 12 at 2:30pm at 3939 13th Street, Riverside
- Victorville – March 13 at 1:00pm at 17800 Highway 18, Apple Valley
- San Bernardino – March 15 at 2:30pm at 1465 South D Street, San Bernardino

All of this information is in the RFP in much greater detail. Please submit any questions to me at this email address in writing. Eric Goddard is the sole contact for this RFP and no other CSUSB or CSRI staff can answer questions. Final proposals must be delivered to CSUSB at the address in the RFP. For more information, contact Eric Goddard at egoddard@csricenters.org

EDUCATION

Kresge Foundation, Arts & Culture

We seek to build strong, healthy cities by promoting the integration of arts and culture in community revitalization.

The Kresge Foundation's national Arts and Culture Program focuses on the role arts and culture play in re-energizing the communities that have long been central to America's social and economic life. We believe that arts and culture are critical to activities designed to revitalize neighborhoods in the metropolitan areas that most Americans call home. Our grantmaking and investments are directed at encouraging interdisciplinary approaches to the broad field of community revitalization.

We seek to make arts and culture as central to discussions of rebuilding and reinvigorating metropolitan areas as land use, housing, transportation, economic development and other more traditional disciplines.

Description: This announcement solicits applications for the fiscal year (FY) 2013 Early Childhood Comprehensive Systems: Building Health Through Integration. The purpose of this grant program is to improve the healthy physical, social, and emotional development during infancy and early childhood; to eliminate disparities; and to increase access to needed early childhood services by engaging in systems development, integration activities and utilizing a collective impact approach to strengthen communities for families and young children and to improve the quality and availability of early childhood services at both the state and local levels. This program broadens and enhances the efforts of the Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting (MIECHV) programs authorized by section 511 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 711), focusing attention on the needs of our youngest citizens, infants and young children. Applicants have the option to plan, if necessary, and implement one of three strategies: 1) Mitigation of toxic stress and trauma in infancy and early childhood. This strategy should be broadly focused across multiple systems in communities, and coordinated with medical homes, trauma prevention activities, and collective impact approaches; or 2) Coordination of the expansion of developmental screening activities in early care and education settings statewide by connecting pediatric and other child health leaders with child care health consultants to link training and referrals among medical homes, early intervention services, child care programs and families; or 3) Improvement of state infant/toddler child care quality initiatives (State licensing standards/Quality Rating and Improvement Systems [QRIS] and/or professional development) by incorporating 10 or more Caring for Our Children: National Health and Safety Performance Standards; Guidelines for Early Care and Education Programs, 3rd ed. (CFOC3) standards focused specially on the infant/toddler age group (see Appendix A). Note: "early care and education" is inclusive of child care, day care, pre-school, pre-K, kindergarten, Early Head Start, and Head Start programs. This new emphasis on infancy and early childhood builds upon the goals and objectives of earlier Early Childhood Comprehensive Systems (ECCS) initiatives and recent scientific evidence regarding the relationship between early experience, brain development, and long-term health and developmental outcomes.

Description: NEH challenge grants are capacity-building grants, intended to help institutions and organizations secure long-term improvements in and support for their humanities programs and resources. Through these awards, many organizations and institutions have been able to increase their humanities capacity and secure the permanent support of an endowment. Grants may be used to establish or enhance endowments or spend-down funds that generate expendable earnings to support and enhance ongoing program activities. Challenge grants may also provide capital directly supporting the procurement of long-lasting objects, such as acquisitions for archives and collections, the purchase of equipment, and the construction or renovation of facilities needed for humanities activities. Funds spent directly must be shown to bring long-term benefits to the institution and to the humanities more broadly. Grantee institutions may also expend up to 10 percent of total grant funds (federal funds plus matching funds) to defray costs of fundraising to meet the NEH challenge. Because of the matching requirement, these NEH grants also strengthen the humanities by encouraging nonfederal sources of support. Applications are welcome from colleges and universities, museums, public libraries, research institutions, historical societies and historic sites, scholarly associations, state humanities councils, and other nonprofit humanities entities. Programs that involve collaboration among multiple institutions are eligible as well, but one institution must serve as the lead agent and formal applicant of record.

Description: The Office of Naval Research (ONR) is interested in receiving proposals for developing innovative solutions that directly support the development and maintenance of a robust STEM workforce. Successful efforts will be targeted towards one or more of the following: K-12, Undergraduate, Graduate STEM education. The goal of any proposed effort should be to provide "game changing" solutions that will establish and maintain a diverse pipeline of U.S. citizens who are interested in participating in Naval STEM education programs and who ultimately will be interested in STEM careers. This BAA also separately requests proposals for the evaluation of current and future Naval STEM programs. This includes implementing methodologies and processes for data collection, analysis, and reporting, as well as methods for effectively evaluating programs and calculating return on investment for chosen programs. Only proposals invited following review of corresponding white paper will be considered for review.

Description: The goal of the Smart and Connected Health (SCH) Program is to accelerate the development and use of innovative approaches that would support the much needed transformation of healthcare from reactive and hospital-centered to preventive, proactive, evidence-based, person-centered and focused on well-being rather than disease. Approaches that partner technology-based solutions with biobehavioral health research are supported by multiple agencies of the federal government including the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The purpose of this program is to develop next generation health care solutions and encourage existing and new research communities to focus on breakthrough ideas in a variety of areas of value to health, such as sensor technology, networking, information and machine learning technology, decision support systems, modeling of behavioral and cognitive processes, as well as system and process modeling. Effective solutions must satisfy a multitude of constraints arising from clinical/medical needs, social interactions, cognitive limitations, barriers to behavioral change, heterogeneity of data, semantic mismatch and limitations of current cyberphysical systems.
